

Resident Maintenance

Offload all of your maintenance activities to the experts at TREW so you can focus on your core business

TREW understands the challenges that our customers face with lack of skilled labor and what can be a revolving door of maintenance personnel in some geographical areas. To help our customers meet these challenges, TREW can provide resident maintenance to completely offload the maintenance activities for your facility so you can focus on your core business.

TREW resident maintenance manages:

- Hiring and training of maintenance personnel
- Parts ordering and part cage management
- A turnkey Computerized Maintenance Management System (CMMS) to provide work orders, parts inventory management and valuable reporting, such as price /asset, for planning purposes
- 2-hour response time for onsite issues
- Assistance with strategic planning and asset management to optimize ROI for your system
- Adherence to uptime and other key performance metrics that are mutually agreed upon to help meet operational objectives and to gauge the performance of TREW maintenance
- Right sized staffing to handle peak and seasonality impacts on your business

Resident maintenance provides value by allowing customers to operate their facilities without the worry of managing the mundane, yet critical activities that can negatively impact productivity.
